TUESDAY
SEPTEMBER 2026

14:00 – 18:00

14:00 Networking Coffee & Registration

14:30 Keynote Speech

14:40 Global Launch of ‘Blend Better Cement’

Join national governments, international institutions, and industry leaders for the global launch of Blend Better Cement, a campaign backed by the Intergovernmental Council for Buildings and Climate (ICBC), focused on recognising blended cements as the fastest solution to cut cement and concrete emissions this decade.

16:00 Occupied, Certified, Refinanced: What Triple-A Means Now

Certified, amenity-rich, low-carbon buildings are commanding rent premiums and near-full occupancy, while older, uncertified stock struggles to fill space or refinance. This panel brings landlords, investors and the building-performance technology behind them together to discuss what "triple-A" now means in practice.

16:50 The Trillion Dollar Housing Transition

There's no shortage of capital chasing U.S. housing — the challenge is turning that appetite into investable, bankable pipelines. This panel explores what's blocking scale in underwriting, affordability and delivery, and what needs to change to convert housing and retrofit need into deals capital will actually fund.

SEPTEMBER 2026

14:00 – 18:00

14:00 Networking Coffee & Registration

14:30 Silent Capital, Loud Consequences

LPs provide 65–75% of global private real estate equity capital, yet remain the quietest voice in the room. This panel examines why — and what changes as leverage fades and the industry shifts from who reports best to who decides best.

15:10 Short Break

15:30 Powering the Next Real Estate Cycle

AI infrastructure is now a real estate story, not just a technology one. With BCG projecting an 80-gigawatt gap between U.S. data-centre power demand and available capacity by 2030, this panel tests where the real value sits, land, power connections or operating platforms, and which projects simply won't get built.
