

CLIMATE WEEK NYC 2026

Funding Wildfire Mitigation and Forest Stewardship Before Disaster Strikes

September | 23 | 2026

2:50 p.m.

KPMG Offices, Two Manhattan West
375 9th Ave, New York City

Join Trust for Public Land during Climate Week NYC for a conversation about the future of the U.S. forestry sector and the power of innovative funding to advance conservation and strengthen communities.

Together, we'll explore how locally generated funding can unlock state, federal, and philanthropic dollars—and what it takes to turn local investment into greater impact for forests and communities nationwide.

Speakers include Forest Stewardship Council, The Nature Conservancy, American Forest Foundation, and Nathan Henry, Director of Conservation Finance at Trust for Public Land.

Space is limited. Please RSVP by September 14.
