

A group of people, including men and women, are walking away from the camera through a lush green field. They are carrying tools like hoes and axes on their shoulders. The field is covered in dense green vegetation, and there are several large trees in the background. The sky is overcast.

NY CLIMATE WEEK PANEL

Smallholder Agroforestry Solutions: A hard nut worth cracking